Walking Tour of West Street Historic District

West Street reconstruction is nearing completion and Walkable Reading wants to inaugurate the new sidewalks with an historic walking tour on Saturday, October 15, 2016 @ 1 PM.

Featured will be the West Street Historic District that consists of many diverse house styles dating from the late 1700's through the Queen Anne period and right up to the homes of today.

The narrated walking tour will explain how Dragon Corner gained its name and where the Reading militia left for Concord on April 19, 1775. We will see the home of a famous musician, and learn other stories hidden behind the walls of many of West Street's homes.

The walk will begin at the corner of West Street and County Road. If needed, please park on Louanis Drive, Countryside Lane or Wentworth Road. In case of inclement weather, check the Walkable Reading Facebook page or email us.

This fall, take a walk, and bring along your camera or phone. Enjoy the fall colors and while you're out take a photograph of a beautiful tree or fall scene in Reading. Submit it to Walkable Reading and include a description of where you walked and where the photo was taken. You could win a gift certificate! Submittals due by Oct. 23.

Email questions or comments to www.walkablereading@comcast.net and be sure to visit our Facebook page www.facebook.com/walkablereading. (This QR code will also get you there!)

Information will be available during the Historical Walk about the newly formed Reading Ramblers Walking Club!
